DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to the amendment filed 2 June 2003.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 5-11, 20 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Neubaus et al. (U.S. Publication 2002/0027294).

Neubaus discloses an electrical component assembly (Fig. 1) that contains a chip (110) having an array of flip chip metal contact terminals (120)(sphere shaped (Page 2, Paragraph 17)) on the first surface bonded to contact pads (114) on the first major surface of the flexible polymer film substrate or dielectric film substrate (112) and an adhesive (124), which is made from a polymer, non-conductive polymer or anisotropic conductive adhesive (Page 5, Paragraph 53), mechanically connecting and filling the space between the chip and substrate without voids. In regards to the contact terminals thermo-compressed bonded directly to the contact pads and a thermosetting adhesive to be polymerized by energy from infrared radiation and the polymer of the adhesive has rapid gel time, a "product by process" claim is directed to the product per se, no matter how actually made, In re Hirao and Sato et al., 190 USPQ 15 at 17 (CCPA 1976) (footnote 3). See also In re Brown and Saffer, 173 USPQ 685 (CCPA 1972); In re Luck and Gainer, 177 USPQ 523 (CCPA 1973); In re Fessmann, 180 USPQ 324 (CCPA 1974); and In re Marosi et al., 218 USPQ 289 (CAFC 1983) final product per se which must be determined in a "product by, all of" claim, and not the patentability of the process, and that an old or obvious product, whether claimed in "product by process" claims or not. Note that Applicant has the burden of proof in such cases, as the above caselaw makes clear. Even though product -by [-] process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based upon the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product is made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985)(citations omitted)."

Claims 2-4 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Neuhaus as applied to claims 1 and 20 above, and further in view of Sakurai (U.S. Publication 2002/0079594).

Neuhaus discloses all of the limitations except for the flip chip and substrate contact pads and contact terminals to be made of gold or copper. Whereas Sakurai discloses an electronic component (Fig. 1b) that contains a substrate (20) with contact pads (14), a flip chip (10) with contact terminals (14) where the contact pads and contact terminals are made of a metal comprising gold or copper. The contact pads and contact terminals are formed of copper or gold to form an electrical contact to the interconnect lines of the substrate and to each other. (Page 1, Paragraph 7, Page 3,

Art Unit: 2822

Paragraph 68) Since Neuhaus and Sakurai are both from the same field of endeavor, electrical components, the purpose disclosed by Sakurai would have been recognized in the pertinent art of Neuhaus. Therefore it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the electrical component of Neuhaus by incorporating the contact pads and contact terminals to comprise gold or copper to form an electrical contact with the substrate and to each other as taught by Sakurai.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-12 and 20-22 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
